The Association of Psychology of Newfoundland and Labrador
presents:
A Wellness in Practice Continuing Education Session

New Ways of Thinking About an Old Topic:

An Interactive Workshop to Help Rural and Northern Psychologists Create More Sustainable Self-Care Practices

WITH

Dr. Karen Dyck
Dr. Melissa Tiessen

Biographies

Dr. Karen Dyck completed her doctoral degree in clinical psychology at the University of South Dakota. She is currently in private practice in Oakbank, Manitoba and was the Director of the Manitoba Psychological Society from 2019–2024. Prior to opening her private practice, Karen spent the majority of her career with the Rural and Northern Psychology Program at the University of Manitoba's Department of Clinical Health Psychology. Karen was the Director of this program from 2010–2014 and was also the founding chair of the Rural and Northern Psychology Section of the CPA.

Dr. Melissa Tiessen completed her doctoral degree in clinical psychology at McGill University and currently works in private practice based out of Winnipeg, Manitoba, serving clients virtually throughout Ontario. Melissa has also previously worked in the Rural and Northern Psychology Program at the University of Manitoba's Department of Clinical Health Psychology, as well as within the Cardiac Rehabilitation Program through the University of Ottawa/The Ottawa Hospital Heart Institute, and from 2011–2015 served as the Education Director for the CPA, overseeing the organization's accreditation and continuing education activities.

In 2019 Melissa and Karen co-founded Intentional Therapist, which was developed to provide a unique self-care perspective designed to help mental health clinicians (especially women) develop individualized and sustainable self-care practices.

The Association of Psychology Newfoundland and Labrador (APNL) is approved by the Canadian Psychological Association to offer continuing education for psychologists. The APNL maintains responsibility for the program.

Learning Objectives

By the end of the workshop, participants will:

- Identify some of the common factors impacting rural and northern psychologists' self-care.
- Have a more compassionate awareness of their own personal self-care roadblocks.
- Identify at least one personal belief or narrative about self-care that no longer serves their wellbeing and reframe it in a more supportive and effective direction.
- Have a new framework for identifying and implementing sustainable and effective self-care practices.
